

Substantial Insight™ Legal Support Services

Your Challenges

The world of Law continues to become more complex as the mass of documentation handled continues to grow in both volume and in the variety of source and format. The process of summarizing, categorizing and organizing Depositions, Testimonies, Interrogatories, Transcripts, Filings and Rulings can represent one of the most time-consuming and expensive aspects of handling a case.

Attorneys have, by default, been forced to spend much of their time in the role of information technology specialists – managing large volumes of documents, extracting and organizing the complex data they contain, determining the intricate relationships between the documents and data, and dealing with the storage, retrieval and presentation of the documents and data– as a prerequisite before they can begin to apply their knowledge of the law. Support staff and budgets are often stretched to their limit in order to help cope with these issues.

Our Solutions

At CompuSharp, we provide technology-enabled services that help you rapidly gain substantial insight into the case, and then work with, manipulate and frame information more powerfully. These services, which allow you to spend more of your time practicing law, can include:

Document Mapping

- Extraction and classification of information based on key issues you have identified as important
- Organization and presentation of the documents in revolutionary visual formats that provide an intuitive roadmap for navigation into the case
- Instant document access and hypertext linkage of related documents

Document Summarization and Data Synthesis

- Complete Document Mapping to put everything in context
- Synthesis of verbose running text to summarize content
- Entity relationships diagrams drawn to highlight relationships and interdependencies of classes of items you define as relevant
- Sequence of event charts and process flowcharts that provide a concise view of events
- Inconsistencies and discrepancies reported for your study
- All information presented and available through one powerful interface, with the original documents just one click away
